DEADLY ROADS

4 x 45' (ENG)

They are lifelines of humanity. But also full of suffering and death. Do you dare to travel on the world's most deadly roads?

Roads are more than just grey strips of asphalt that enable us to travel and trade. For centuries they have been lifelines of humanity, full of stories and history - and in certain countries and areas they also hold great dangers, human suffering and death. We dared to travel on the world's most dangerous and deadly roads, among others in Bolivia, Georgia, Afghanistan, South Africa, India, Madagascar, Scotland, and Australia.
